Veteran Resource Fair

LOS ANGELES, CA – In partnership with Los Angeles City Councilmember Traci Park, 11th District, and Los Angeles Department of Water and Power Veterans Alliance for Leadership and Recognition (LADWP VALOR), New Directions For Veterans (NDVets) will be conducting a Veterans Resource Fair on Thursday, March 12th from 9:00 am – 2:00 pm. The resource fair is taking place from the Women Veteran Rose Garden (e.g. near Building 220) at West Los Angeles Veterans Affairs Medical Center.

The purpose of the resource fair is to ensure veterans and their families have meaningful access to information about support, services, and resources. Information provided at the resource fair is tailored to meet the needs of veterans with topics ranging from Veterans Administration Services to support available through local organizations. Resources provided at the resource fair will include but not be limited to primary medical care, mental health care, career & job guidance, free clothes, and essentials. Partner agencies supporting the resource fair include but are not limited to the Office of the Mayor, Los Angeles Public Library, Los Angeles Metro, the Red Cross and other local and national agencies. “The resource fair is important for veterans because it gives them the opportunity to learn more about services and resources available to them in the community. Our team is honored to be able to provide veterans with resources that will be impactful to them,” Scott Brumer, Director of Development, NDVets.

Established in 1992, NDVets is an independent nonprofit organization dedicated toward empowering men and women who served in the military, and their families, to lead productive and fulfilling lives. Last year alone, NDVets served over 800 veterans through transitional housing programs, permanent supportive housing programs, and comprehensive services. We are proud of the fact that 100 percent of veterans were provided access to mental health care with 65 percent making significant decreases in mental health symptoms such as but not limited to post-traumatic stress disorder, anxiety, and depression.

Elected in 2022, Councilmember Traci Park, 11th District, represents Brentwood, Marina Del Rey, Mar Vista, Pacific Palisades, Palms, Venice, West Los Angeles, and Westwood. She is a dedicated advocate for creating impactful and sustainable solutions for veterans and housing.

The LADWP Veterans Alliance for Leadership and Recognition promotes and celebrates the leadership abilities of veterans, often by highlighting their unique skills gained through their military service and advocating for their recognition in the civilian workforce and community leadership roles.

There are currently more than 3,400 known unhoused veterans residing throughout Los Angeles County.
